

Winter land

In winter I taste snowflakes falling down from the sky. I see holly trees in the forest. I hear sloshy leaves on the ground. I touch icicles and I feel snow as well. I smell soup and hot chocolate and I smell the fire.

By John Flaherty.

