

The Winter Walk

On the 29th of December 2013 it was a cold and misty morning. Alanna and Naoise went for a walk into the forest.

They walked into the forest and Naoise spotted a frozen river. When they were walking across the frozen river Alanna slipped on the ice. Immediately Naoise had to slide Alanna up. A bit of ice cracked and they saw a frog hibernating in dirt under water. Naoise and Alanna walked deeper into the forest. Just then Naoise felt some snow a little bit more. Soon they went farther through the forest. Alanna spotted that all the trees were covered in snow.

Then it was about 5 o'clock so Naoise and Alanna ran back to Alanna's house to have dinner. When they got to front door they looked at the house. Alanna gasped because it was covered in snow and ice.
