

☺The three friends

Once upon a time there were three friends called Samantha Austin and David. They travelled from Mexico to Africa and they slept in a fort made of wood and leaves. They ate palm and drank juice from cactus.

But Samantha got very sick. Her face was pure white and she was getting sick. Austin and David thought that she had eaten something poisonous. David and Austin struggled to carry Samantha up the timber ladder into the fort. Austin and David dropped her on the floor.

The two men waved palm at her and gave her water but nothing worked.

"I think she's going to die" David mumbled. "Don't say that" yelled Austin. "We will take her to Egypt". "We will get her cured by a doctor". "My pain is getting worse", groaned Samantha.

Samantha was brought to Egypt. She was cured of food-poisoning by a doctor.

By Jack Ó Grady ,Eimear Redican and Seán Barry

1.