

Teeth

All humans have teeth even when they're born!

The outside of teeth is called the enamel or the crown. The nerves/blood keep the tooth attached to the gum.

To keep your teeth clean and healthy brush them with a toothbrush and toothpaste to brush away all the sugar from your food. When babies are born their teeth are hidden in their gums.

The very first set of teeth people get are milk teeth. People get twenty-four milk teeth. When the milk teeth fall out a new set of teeth grow. Those teeth are called permanent teeth. People get thirty-two permanent teeth.

Food and drinks with lots of sugar can crack the enamel. Opening bottles with your teeth ruins your teeth.

Take good care of your teeth!!!
