

Octopus

They are usually on their own. They only live up to 12-18 months. They have a lot of eggs but only a few can survive. When they are scared they turn white and when they are cross they turn red. Soon after the eggs hatch, the male and the female die. They have eight tentacles. If they lose one they can make a new one. They also have three hearts. They have suckers on their tentacles that can taste. They are intelligent. By Cassie
