

Stingrays

Stingrays have no bones instead they have cartilage. They are related to sharks. Some stingrays have a point at the end of their tails and some have venom. It could kill you. When stingrays swim it is like they are flying through the water. Their mouth is on the bottom of their body and their eyes and nostrils are on the top. By Ellen

