

Should you have a real or artificial Christmas tree?

Dear reader,

Everyone loves Christmas trees. They are a lovely Christmas decoration to have in your home. That's why we have written this argument to show you what kind of Christmas tree you should buy this Christmas.

Artificial trees are way easier to keep because real trees die off quickly, also real trees are constantly shedding their needles and you are twenty-four seven trying to sweep them up, although it is ok to grow your own Christmas tree in back garden and you can decorate it with baubles because they are waterproof and it can be decorated with outside lights not inside lights. Another reason is if you were to get a real Christmas tree there could be real bugs and animals living in the tree. You shouldn't be surprised if you wake up on Christmas morning and a squirrel has chewed through all your presents and your sofa is infested with bugs e.g. Beetles, woodlice and spiders!

Obviously, you shouldn't really have a real Christmas tree because the needles are constantly falling off, the tree could carry in lots of bugs and nasty animals and artificial trees last way, way,
way longer!
