

Should toddlers be allowed to touch the Christmas tree?

We hope people are as annoyed as we are!!
It's always in programmes with Christmas trees falling on the toddlers and toddlers burning themselves when the Christmas tree lights that have been on for a long time.

Obviously toddlers should not be allowed to go near or touch the Christmas tree.

Toddlers could pull on the tree and it might fall on top of them!

Without a doubt the Christmas tree lights might be left on for a long time and the toddlers might touch them and it might burn them and hurt them!

Clearly toddlers should not be allowed near the Christmas tree until they are four or over!

We have shown it is easy to see why toddlers should not be allowed to touch the Christmas tree because they might pull down all of the decorations!
