

Should children be allowed to stay up past 12.00?

On Christmas eve it is very exciting so children might want to stay up late or even twelve o'clock.

But we think children should not be allowed to stay up twelve.

Because children under twelve are too young and the children under twelve aren't really responsible enough. But children over twelve are just old enough. But some children are very lucky and their parents let them stay up late. By Aaron and Leon
